FusionPass A Secure Password Manager

From banking sites to dating apps, you need different login information nearly everywhere you go on the internet. Creating unique and strong passwords can get tricky fast. Some people use simple passwords that are easy to remember, and others memorize one complex password and use it everywhere online. Either option is a recipe for disaster in the form of identity theft or an account takeover, so don't do it. Instead, let FusionPass manage strong passwords on your behalf.

FusionPass – available as a browser extension on PC and Mac, or as a native app on iOS and Android – will generate new, random passwords for all the sites you visit. We store these credentials for you in a secure virtual vault. Then, when you visit a site or open an app where you need to log in, the password manager automatically fills in your login name and password. No one can access the contents of your vault – not even Fusion! – except you.
